

The Black Shrew

Desc:

The Black Shrew (Suncus ater) is a white-toothed shrew only known from Mount Kinabalu in the Malaysian state of Sabah on the island of Borneo. It is listed as a critically endangered species due to habitat loss and a restricted range. It is the smallest shrew of its kind and lives in parts of middle asia.

Info:

Black Shrew has rarely been seen by human and there is no official record on its size. However, witnesses have estimated the size to be 20 - 100 mm. One recorded specimen was found in Mount Kinabalu in Sabah, Malaysia. Nobody knows whether this creature has extinct or still occupy a small area in the Sabah state of Malaysia. They tend to be aggressive towards each others and are mostly solitary creatures.

Characteristics:

- there is no official record on its size. However, witnesses have estimated the size to be 20 - 100 mm.
- They tend to be aggressive towards each others and are mostly solitary creatures.

Fun fact: Black Shrew has rarely been seen by human and there is no official record on its size. However, witnesses have estimated the size to be 20 - 100 mm.